Mary Magdalene: Archetype of the Divine Feminine

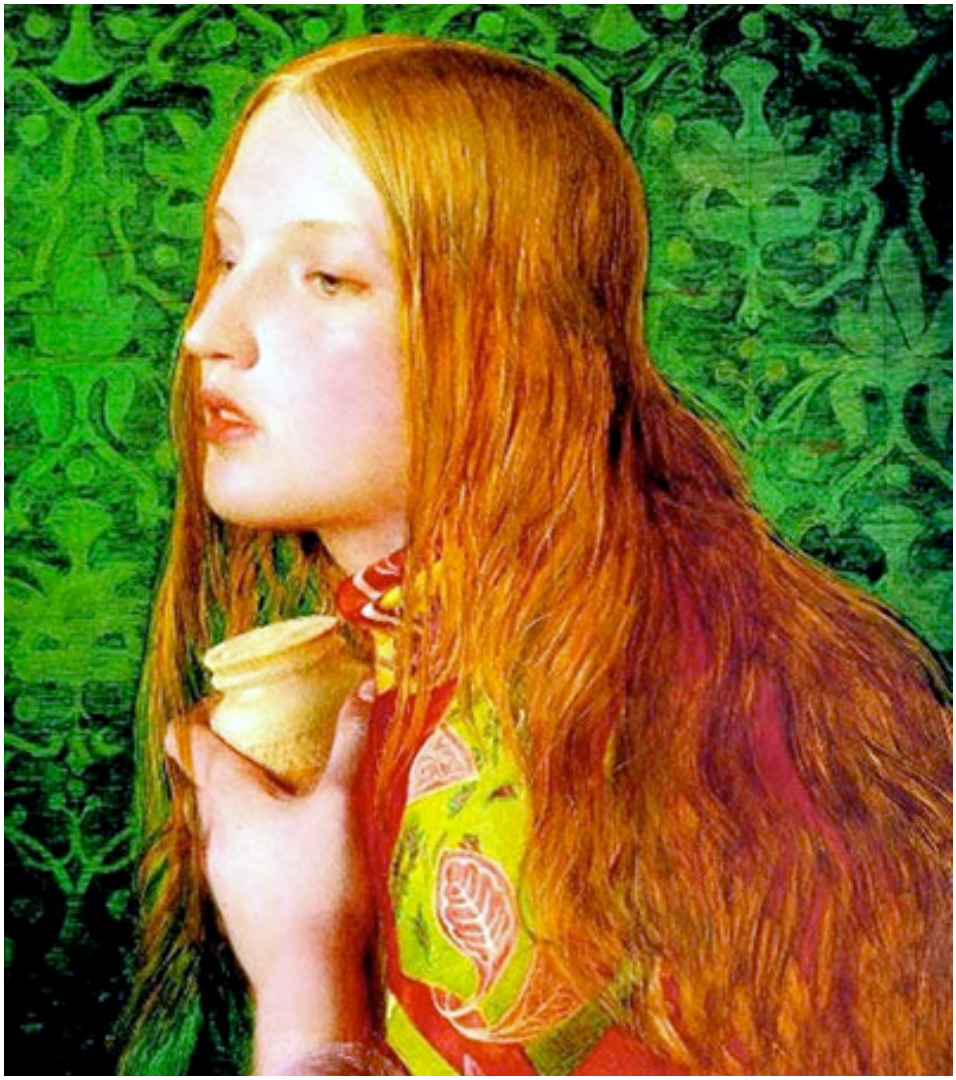

Image: Anthony Frederick August Sandys

Who is this woman — a penitent prostitute or a beloved disciple? How does she form our image of the divine feminine? In the Gnostic Gospel, Dialogue of the Savior, it is written, "she spoke as a woman who knew the All." Through comparative world mythologies, we will explore what relevance her archetypal image, both sexual and spiritual, has to do with modern men and women as it pertains to a sense of self and in relationship with others.

Dr. Nancy Qualls-Corbett is a practicing Jungian analyst from Birmingham, Alabama. She is a diplomat of the C.G. Jung Institute in Zurich and the author of The Sacred Prostitute: Eternal Aspects of the Feminine and Awakening Woman: Dreams and Individuation. She is a contributing author to the recent books The Secrets of Mary Magdalen and Living with Jung: "Enterviews" with Jungian Analysts. She lectures frequently in North America and Europe. Nancy combines her love of mythology and travels by co-leading seminar groups in Greece, Egypt, Italy and France.
